A couple of years ago as Rick's home health nurse my visits usually came about the same time as "The Price Is Right". I've never seen anything like Rick's ability to guess the prices on that show! He loved it when I was there for the "showcase showdown" because almost half the time he "won" both showcases by getting so close to "the actual retail price". He loved to amaze me with his Price Is Right skills at every visit. Rick always offered me a cup of coffee and yes, he never let this nonsmoking nurse leave without asking "Have you got a cigarette?"
