Evelyn (Dee Dee to all of her nieces and nephews) was such a stoic and independent person. As a child, seeing Dee Dee stand strong as a single career woman helped inspire me to have the courage to go out into the world and try to make a career for myself. As someone who waited until later in life to marry, having Evelyn as an example of a woman who could live on her own helped me feel it was ok to be single and independent. She touched many young people in her life as a teacher, and her passion for education was something she continued to have the rest of her life. We wish we could be there to help celebrate her life, but we will be there in love and spirit. Rest In Peace, Aunt Dee Dee...Love, Cynthia

She was my neighbor and I always loved going to visit her. I just learned about what happened and I am saddened but I am, at the same time grateful that she is in a better place. I quote her sister "She isn't hurting anymore" When I would visit her, she had many nice things to say and she always dressed old-fashioned which I really loved, she was very nice and always happy. Thanks to her wonderful sister, I now have one of her treasures, to forever remember her by. Rest In Peace Ms. Stringer! You will always be remembered.
