“Helen and her husband Delbert were our dear friends and neighbors since we moved to Oklahoma in 1961. To my brother and me, they were like a second set of parents who attended our games and school plays as if we were their own children. They didn't talk much about their Christian faith; they didn't have to, because their faith was in action every day. They lived the Christian life in their kindness, charity, tolerance, humility, and modesty. Their generosity to their many tenants over the years allowed immigrants or those who had fallen on hard times to make a new start. Helen's life of service was dedicated to her church, her family, and outreach to the underprivileged that her Penn Avenue congregation served. Helen was a splendid cook and baker; even a casual supper featured multiple dishes--and always dessert. Her small frame belied her big heart and boundless energy. We love you, Helen. Thank you for your loving care and God bless you and your family. We'll miss you.
