“ I feel so fortunate to have known James. One of my annual questions to Debb was "will we see James in December?" I always hoped we would and sometimes we did. One fortuitous encounter was in the Memphis airport, both of us changing planes to come or go to Philadelphia. There he was! And he let me buy him a beer! Or maybe two! Such a good person, and his friends and family in many states will miss him. Me among them.

“ I think I will always remember James, Thomas groves and Leighton venn. The tales I would hear of things they did it makes me sad that all three are gone rip James you were a good man

“ The Reilly DiBerardinis family wishes to send our condolences to the McColloch family and to the in laws

James was a unique, treasured, independent and very warm bright light in the world. We spent many wonderful Christmas eves together at the McColloch Valentine home. We can see him perched on the chair to the right of the fire place talking and laughing about all things great and small.

His curiosity about the world, his desire to see people live together in a just and peaceful society, his love of family and friends were great blessings to all who were privileged to know him. Our hearts are sad that he left us too soon. And our hearts are filled with gratitude for the time we spent together.

May his soul rest in God's abundant and unending peace.
