After 61 years of loving marriage William preceded her in death in 2007.

In retirement Katy and William loved to take trips to Branson, MO, to see their favorite shows. On many weekends, family joined them at the lake, enjoying leisurely lake life filled with water skiing, boating and cookouts. William used his woodworking skills to cut out shapes of wood that Katy would paint and decorate to sell or give to friends and family. Later in life she took up reading and became a fixture at the Salina Library. She enjoyed crocheting and keeping busy with many memorable trips with family. At the age of 83, Katy gave her heart to Jesus.
