“ there is so many fun stories to share about you growing up, One of my favorite is when you was about 2 1/2 years old. you kept going into the kitchen of your aunt and uncle home to go up the stairs so your uncle Floyd put up a wooden board to keep you out the kitchen, well all us including your dad would trip over this board and catch a foot on it and almost face plant in the kitchen, He said can't you all go over that darn board like a normal person? you would just laugh like a hyena over that. well your graceful uncle Floyd took a trip like the rest and you just laughed like a bowl of jello. well later that day you stuck something in your uncle shirt sleeve he had this lil cuff on the upper arm of the shirt and it was a round lil brown ball. your uncle Floyd said hey hey boy watch ya doing there? well your momma face went white as a sheet your dad laughing so hard he cant breathe. you see it wasnt a ball. it was a baby Kevin potty ball. to this day we would still think of that and laugh. i don't think you or your uncle Floyd ever lived that day down. it was a great day. and you were such a wonderful blessing to us all. We all will miss you dearly, and knowing you are now in the arms of your mom and dad and all your uncles and aunts, cousins. and our lord we all know you are safe and healthy now. love you Gray Wolf
