“ One of my fondest memories was the Easter Egg hunts. He'd hide the eggs and the kids would turn them in for $$$$. we'd always miss finding some, which he'd find later when mowing. Seeing everyone running around finding eggs will forever be etched in my mind. Truly amazing Dad, Grandpa and Great Grandpa.

“Memory oh there's so many from teaching me everything he could from tree types to fishing then shooting. I think when I fig out what boys was well let's just put it his guns were very clean .I'll never forget a guy I don't even remember his name but I can remember dad sitting in the front room cleaning his rifle the entire time he talked to the guy it was right after we moved to Sedan that was the talk of the school by Monday Lucky for me the guys of the school seemed to think no big deal they had there own to clean I think that and him teaching me how to drive a stick and the lake how he put it just wanted us to go for a swim because I tried to drive us in a few times needless to say I have to many memories of this man that filled my dad's shoes and no matter how much I didn't like it at the beginning knew in my heart that he loved his girls all 5 of us (poorman) and he made us strong and a little hard headed at times. But the most vivid memory I have is seeing how much he loved our momma which a love like that is amazing to see I didn't know much. Until I was older and grandbabies started coming and great grandbabies and each of them it seemed just poured a little of that love out to anybody in need of some I can say I was raised by some pretty awesome parents.and he will be forever remembered by many you can see a piece of him in each one of his grandchildren and it. Will live on for generations to come.

“ One of my favorite memories is spending 4th of July at the lake, all the family getting together for a big celebration. Us kids us to try to balance and walk down a metal fence, it's just a small memory, and there are many more, but this is one I think and talk about all the time. My Grandpa was a very wise, and kind man. He will be greatly missed ❤️
