“Hi, my name is Louri Cobb. I don't know if Ruthie ever talked about me. I was one of the ladies she worked with in the deli. I worked with her for 10 years. We became friends. I was one of the ladies that attended the monthly ladie's luncheon Ruth would go to. Ruth was a very quiet lady until you got to know her. She shared things about her life with me. Losing her husband. Raising her sons and grandsons. Her family in Arkansas, her sites she would visit every year. Ruth didn't want to quit Walmart. She told me she was just tired. She just couldn't do it anymore. She gave it her all. The loved her customers, her Walmart family, her friends, her family. I believe Ruth was a gift from God to me. She loved me unconditionally! Like a true friend would. No matter what. That's the kind of Lady she was. She taught me grace pure kindness, and made me laugh all the time! She had wonderful personality. You never new what might come out of her mouth. She made me laugh so hard , I would have tears rolling down my face! One day in the deli, We were all working . She walked by and said,"I'm going back here and see if I can find me blade. These darn knives won't cut nothin'!" Calmly Bertie says to her," Did you say you were gonna' go see if you were gonna' get laid? Well, good luck." Ruth started busting up laughing and said something like well I might get lucky! Ya never know!" My mouth dropped! Jeannie saw the look on my face she was already laughing. Started laughing harder! I started laughing. We were all laughing! Someone said,"What's so funny?" I said "Nothin!" I didn't want us to get in trouble! We couldn't help it. Everybody's looking at us like we were all crazy! It became an inside joke for those we shared it with . Later on that hat day Jeannie says," I'm going to bakery to get some bread! That's B R E A D. BREAD! We all started busting up laughing again! Those were good times! We shed tears together in good times and bad. Ruth always had the right thing to say. To help me keep my mouth shut! To comfort me , to dry my tears, and share my sorrows. When my husband of 31 years passed away from cancer in 2011, I came to her crying with grief! She said to me," I know it's hard! It won't EVER go away! But it will get a little easier with time. I realized at that moment and remembered that she too had gone through the same thing. And when I saw the strength and compassion in her eyes, I dried my tears, and realized that I could be strong like her! That's the kind of woman she was! I hugged her every day when she came in that door at work. I couldn't leave without giving her a hug at the end of my day. I knew my dear friend was getting weak so I hugged her more and more. I knew I may not have my dear friend for long. Now she's in heaven so I don't cry for her. I cry for me. Like I said, I was blessed by God to have had her in my life. I will miss her!

“ My name is Lour Cobb. I met Ruthie in 2005 when I started working in the deli in Bartlesville. We became very close friends! She was very quiet, but when she had something to say, she'd say it! I admired her so much! What she had been through, and raising her boys! She always knew the right thing to say to make me feel better. She was the kindest and funniest person I ever had the privilege to know. I would like to share more at her service.
